

TO LAUNCH MONEY MEASURE ON FRIDAY

Wilson Says Currency Bill Will Be Put Up to Congress This Week

MESSAGE IS ALREADY FINISHED

President Denies that Mr.
Bryan Is in Conflict with Other Advisors

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Currency legislation will be launched in this congress this week, probably on Friday. President Wilson so stated at his semi-weekly conference with the newspapermen following a conference with Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, and Chairman Owen of the senate banking committee. The party currency builders are united, the president asserted.

Message is Finished
He stated that his currency message is completed and that the "administration currency bill" would be ready also by Friday.

The president expects the limelight of public attention to be shifted from tariff to currency after this week. That there are no differences on the currency bill now existing between the white house and capitol was asserted emphatically by the executive. He specifically mentioned Secretary of State Bryan in this regard, denying that the Nebraskan was in conflict with others of his currency advisors. He repudiated the report that Bryan's influence was dominant in framing the bill, asserting that the secretary's counsel had been sought in general conferences and that Bryan had merely manifested a "general interest" in the bill.

The president made it clear that the currency measure is no one man's bill.

It is founded on one general basic principle.

Consensus of Opinion

While refusing to disclose the prime principle of his currency bill, the president said it was a "crystallization of sentiment" evoked after many interchanges of opinions. The president impressed the idea that he makes no pretense to being a "currency expert," himself. He said he did not wish the country to receive the impression that the currency bill is to be a "Wilson" bill. He does not wish to stand as "dictator" upon financial reforms.

COUNTRY SWELTERS IN SUDDEN HEAT

CHICAGO, June 16.—With the thermometer at 95 at noon today, a new 1913 record, and mounting steadily higher, three additional deaths from the heat wave were reported to the coroner's office today, raising the total in the past fifty hours to six. Prostrations were numerous today.

Between 1,500 and 2,000 hogs died at the Stock Yards today from the intense heat, representing a loss of approximately $35,000.

MILWAUKEE, June 16.—Five heat prostrations were reported up to noon today, and with the mercury still climbing many more were expected before nightfall. One of the victims is in a serious condition.
At noon government thermometers registered 91, but cooling showers were predicted for late this afternoon.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 16.—The first heat prostration in this city came shortly before noon today when Pearl Francomb, a waitress, 22 years old, dropped unconscious during the lunch hour at the Lincoln hotel. She was rushed to a hospital, where she was reported to be in a serious condition.

Yesterday the thermometer reached 100 and it was expected this mark would be topped today.

In the country districts the heat wave has already brought a tinge of yellow to the wheat fields, giving promise of an early harvest.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 16.—Despite the fact that the thermometer reached the highest mark of the present season and sent the population of St. Paul and Minneapolis to the lakes and rivers for relief Sunday, and today there has not been a single death nor prostration reported.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 16.— Two deaths and numerous heat prostrations were reported early today as the result of the heat wave which has gripped Philadelphia.
Forecaster Baker predicts slowly rising temperature with no relief in sight.

DENVER, Col., June 16.—Although a maximum temperature of 92 for the past 24 hours was reported by the official weather forecaster, no prostrations have been reported in Denver. Lack of humidity is responsible for the condition.
Another hot day was predicted for today, with thunderstorms by nightfall.

CIVIL RIGHTS ACT IS HELD INVALID

The Supreme Court Decides that the Law of 1875 Is Unconstitutional

COURT'S DECISION UNANIMOUS

Measure Imposing Penalties for Discrimination Against Negroes Is Invalid

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The entire federal "civil rights" act of 1875 imposing criminal penalties for discrimination against negroes was declared void today by the supreme court of the United States. The court held because it was not applicable uniformly throughout the country, it was entirely unconstitutional.

The court's decision was unanimous. It was rendered by Justice Vanderbilt on a case wherein the court ruled that interstate steamship companies are not liable in damages for compelling negroes holding first-class tickets on their steamers to take second class accommodations. The court held that the "civil rights act" of 1875 is not applicable to interstate steamship commerce.

Mary F. Butt brought the suit against the Merchants and Miners Steamship line.

MISS WILSON VISITS

DAUGHTER OF PRESIDENT IS GUEST OF MRS. JOSEPH
MADISON

MADISON, Wis., June 16.—(Special.)—Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the president of the United States, arrived in Madison Saturday night to spend a week as the guest of Mrs. Joseph E. Davies, wife of the commissioner of corrections. Miss Wilson declined to be interviewed. It was announced that she had left Washington for a quiet trip and had refused to talk for publication at any time since her start.

Mr. and Mrs. Davies also came from Washington, their primary purpose being attendance upon the reunion of the class of 1895 of the University of Wisconsin tomorrow.
Several society functions will probably be arranged for Miss Wilson.

KEOKUK DAM OPEN

At 8:30 a. m. Thursday, June 12, the steamer Sidney of the Streckfus line passed into the gigantic lock at Keokuk, was lifted 40 feet, and steamed out on Lake Cooper to Burlington—thus formally opening navigation through the dam and lock, which has been closed during the construction of the world's greatest water power plant at Keokuk.

A lake 40 feet deep, three miles wide and sixty miles long has been formed by the water backed up by this dam, which together with the power house is over a mile in length.

The "Sidney" was closely followed by the steamer W. W. of the Streckfus line, bound for Rock Island and Davenport.

WALKER FUNERAL TODAY

The funeral of Mrs. Anne Walker was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence on South Eighth street. Rev. Everett Johnson officiated.
Burial was made in Oak Grove cemetery.

VOUGHT'S WOUND NOT SERIOUS ONE

Writes Father Soon After Landing that He Was Not Shot but Hit with a Rifle

That the wound he received in a battle to defend his wife and her sister from two revolutionists was not as serious as at first reported is the statement contained in a letter received immediately after the arrival in Galveston of M. I. Vought, son of T. L. Vought, 2303 Loomis street, La Crosse. Mr. Vought arrived June 7 from Tampico with a party of American refugees.

Mr. Vought wrote immediately to his father in this city to relieve him of anxiety. He said in the letter that instead of being shot, as was reported at first, he was struck upon the side of the head with a mauler rifle.
The wound was slight and is already healed, he told his father.

Mr. and Mrs. Vought left Galveston a week ago for San Antonio, where they are visiting friends. Mrs.
Vought's sister, who was with the pair during all of their troublous stay in Mexico, left them and went to her home.

PROBATE JUDGE QUITS

CHICAGO, June 16.—Probate Judge Charles S. Cutting sent his resignation to Gov. Dunne today declaring that he wanted to go into a business that didn't require "fooling around in politics."

ALUMNI ORGANIZE AT BIG BANQUET

Two Hundred and Fifty Old Grads Present at Saturday's Gathering

MARTINDALE HEADS THE BODY

76 Man Elected to Chief Position; Give History of Three Schools

Saturday evening the La Crosse high school alumni association held its first annual banquet and perfected organization by the adoption of a constitution and by-laws and the election of officers.

The officers:
Stephen Martindale, '76, president.
Grace Gesell, '10, vice president.
Howard M. Jones, '10, secretary.
Mrs. C. A. Smith, assistant secretary.

Wileen Dorset, treasurer.
Two hundred and fifty alumni and guests participated in the dinner, which was served in the high school lunch room and prepared and served by the department of domestic science.

"In Pates Tres"

As La Crosse high school history "in tres partes divisa est," (all the speakers dabbled in Dago), the program was arranged to provide one speaker each for the three successive high schools, concluding with two addresses on the plan to organize. Introductory to these were an address by Mayor Ori J. Sorensen, who in drawing a comparison between the "just plain school" of his time and the present day advantages gave expression to his friendly feeling and deep interest in the city schools.

Supt. L. P. Benetz acted as toastmaster and despite protestations of his ineptitude and inexperience "scintillated" with the required amount of banter and the conventional number of "darker stories."

Mr. Martindale's comment upon the high school of the '70s was interesting, and his tribute to B. M.
Reynolds, principal, and to his fellow students afforded a touch of genuine feeling. The drollery with which the speaker permitted it to be realized that the scholastic attainments of the alumni of '76, particularly along classical lines, were such as to sus-tain repartee with the alumni of latter periods, and with the learned toastmaster, amused the banqueters, and particular interest attached to the speaker's diploma, which he produced and handed to Hon. Wendell A. Anderson for verification. Dr. Anderson was president of the school board when Mr. Martindale was graduated, and signed the diploma.

H. J. Hirschheimer gave reminis-cences of the Fourth ward high school, his recollections of episodes prompted by the spirit of adventure that there prevailed creating amusement, and with a touch of sentiment recalled the fine old scholar who presided there, R. W. Hemminger. Latter Mr. Hirschheimer supplemented his remarks with a plea that the alumni association be taken seriously.

A New School Spirit

Speaking for the new high school Armand J. Tuteur dwelt upon the new school spirit that has come with new surroundings and methods—the modern school, democratic, where students are free agents lured by their work and instructors are not taskmasters driving young slaves to irksome tasks.

Miss Mabel Young discussed the advantages of "The New Association," and Howard Jones disappointed everybody by skipping his toast, an appeal to organize, and proceeding with the business in hand.

There were informal talks by Dr.
Wendell A. Anderson, John P. Bird, Mrs. Emma Anderson Crosby and Prof. Albert Hardy. Of these Dr.
Anderson was recognized as a guiding spirit in the schools for many years, and the founder of the new high school, while both Mr. Hardy and Mr. Bird had served as superintendents.

An informal dance in the gymnasium of the Hixon Annex concluded the entertainment.

ORDER SUSTAINED

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The interstate commerce commission today permanently sustained its recent suspension of railroad tariffs which proposed to abolish water routes in favor of rail transportation of coal originating in Kentucky and West Virginia and destined to points north of Milwaukee, Manitowoc and Kewanee, Wis. The ruling, however, granted an advance of ten cents per ton over the present tariff.

FIND HUGE FOSSIL

CASPER, Wyo., June 16.—Dr. F.
Swatthe and Dr. D. Van Wagener, geologists who are prospecting this vicinity for oil, report the discovery of an eighteen miles from Casper, of a fossil bed, conspicuously visible, in which is the almost perfect skeleton of a flying reptile, probably of the pterodactyl. It had measured at sixty feet in length. The creature in life must have had a wing expansion of eighty feet.

DRIVES HUBBY TO CAPITOL EACH DAY IN 60 H. P. MACHINE; OTHER SOLONS ENVOIOUS

Mrs. Fred A. Britten.

Mrs. Fred A. Britten of Chicago is seen almost every morning on Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, at the wheel of a sixty-horse power automobile, containing her husband, Congressman Fred A. Britten, on his way to the capitol. Mrs. Britten's ability as a driver of a highpowered automobile is only excelled by her reputation of being one of the most beautiful and vivacious matrons of Washington; and many are the envious congressmen who watch her machine go whizzing by, for she is one of the few congressmen's wives who drive their husbands regularly to the capitol.

HOOD MAY ENTER GOVERNOR'S RACE

La Crosse Man Talked of and Seems Not Averse to Entering Contest for High Honor

MANY OTHER CANDIDATES TO RUN

Old War Horses Champing but First District Assemblyman Seems Undisturbed

MADISON, Wis., June 16.—Hon.
C. L. Hood, La Crosse, may be a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor.

While it is too early for announcements, democrats as well as republicans are casting about for a man who can win, and Assemblyman Hood has figured among the possibilities.

Mr. Hood himself is not averse to the idea, and indeed is said to have told associates that he contemplates entering the race. That ex-Congressman Weiss, Ikeey Karel, John A.
Aylward and Adolph Schmitz are being discussed as possible candidates is said to dismay the La Crosse man not at all.

GIVES BACCALAUREATE TALK

MADISON, Wis., June 16.—(Special.)—The baccalaureate exercises of the University of Wisconsin were held in the armory Sunday afternoon.
President C. R. Van Hise delivered the address, speaking on "The University Man in the Twentieth Century." He pointed out the opportunities for service of the men and women of the younger generation.
Madison pastors assisted in the services, and musical numbers were furnished by Mrs. Mabel Sharp Herdlen of Chicago.

SHOPMEN ASK DAMAGES

LONDON, June 16.—Hundreds of militant suffragists flocked to the king's bench division today to hear the beginning of the second law suit brought to determine whether the suffrage leaders may be held responsible for the material damage of their militancy. West End merchants whose shop windows were smashed by the women are the plaintiffs and as in the case two weeks ago, Mrs.
Emmeline Pankhurst, Miss Christabel Pankhurst and the Pethick Lawrences are defendants.

ELGIN BUTTER MARKET

ELGIN, Ill., June 16.—Butter was quoted at 28 cents today, 1/4c higher than last week's quotation.

HOME MADE STORE HOME MADE GOODS

Frank E. Smith Says He Will Start One if Board of Trade Committee Fails in Work

SAYS IT WOULD PAVE THE WAY

Believes Demonstration of Its Financial Success Would Induce Dealers to Copy It

The following statement was made today by Frank E. Smith, president of the Smith Manufacturing company:

"If the board of trade campaign to promote retailing of La Crosse made goods fails, I expect to organize a store here to deal exclusively in La Crosse made articles.

"If the board's committee fails, obviously it must be upon the theory that La Crosse made goods will not sell at home. I propose then, to demonstrate whether this is true. I do not think it is true. I have had no experience as a retailer, but I am prepared to take a little flyer for the benefit of the city, and I believe the store will go big.

"The store will display La Crosse goods exclusively. It will be in the nature of a general store, for it will handle everything from buttons and boots to cream separators and furnaces. It will be advertised daily that the goods are made in La Crosse."

Asked as to his plans Mr. Smith said that he believed such a store could be organized, and that he was prepared to go into it and would push the idea if it seemed best. He added that such a store should make money, and would be valuable as a test, but that the sale of La Crosse made goods in all stores would be overwhelmingly more valuable. Mr.
Smith hopes and believes that the joint committee on home trade will succeed with its work, but should it fail he is convinced that the store he proposes to organize will serve to demonstrate that home made articles can be retailed here in profitable and extensive competition with all outside lines.

SALTZ INFANT DIES

The infant of Mr. and Mrs. J. F.
Saltz died at its home, 813 Caledonia street, Saturday night, at 6 o'clock. The funeral services were held this morning at 10 o'clock from the residence. Burial was made in Oak Grove cemetery.

STREET CAR MEN GRANTED A RAISE

Two Cents an Hour Increase in New Contract Signed by Company and Men Today

OTHER EMPLOYES ALSO RAISED

President C. C. Smith Authorizes Peter Valier to Make Liberal Contract with Workers

A raise of two cents an hour was granted the seventy-five motormen and conductors employed by the Wisconsin Railroad, Light and Power company, in the new contract which was signed by the officers of the street car company and the employees today. Although the men asked for a four cent raise the officers of the union today announced that they are satisfied with the concessions made by the company.

The agreement comes as the result of a series of conferences held between the employees' committee and officials of the company. A week ago Saturday night Clement C. Smith, of Milwaukee, president of the company, announced to the men during a conference that the company was anxious to make an agreement with its employees that would be as liberal as possible and satisfactory to the workmen. Last Friday Mr. Smith called General Manager Peter Valier into conference with him in Chicago and instructed him to grant the two cent an hour increase to the men. He further instructed Mr. Valier to raise the wage scale of the men employed in the company round house and shops and on the tracks.
The raise went into effect today.

According to the new motormen and conductors' schedule which was adopted in the contract signed in the office of Manager Valier today the men will be paid twenty-one cents an hour for the first six months of service; twenty-two cents an hour the second six months; and twenty-five cents for the second year and thereafter. The scale provides time and a half for overtime and double time for overtime between midnight and five o'clock a. m.

All other conditions of work, such as time schedule and division of shifts remain the same as in the contract which expired this month.
According to the new contract all differences that may arise shall be submitted to the properly authorized official of the company by the accredited committee of the motormen and conductors' union and if the official and committee are unable to reach an agreement, the matter shall be taken for adjustment to a board of arbitration. The members of the arbitration board shall be appointed, one by the employees, one by the company and the third by the other two members of the board.

In the event a motorman or conductor is discharged an investigation by the employees committee and officials of the company shows that he was discharged for insufficient cause, he shall be reinstated and shall collect such back pay as is forthcoming during the time he was laid off.

The contract was signed by officers of the street car company and by Peter F. Sieger, president of the union, H. A. Straight, J. P. Nutting and Fred Harm, the members of the committee which has had in hand the employees' end of the negotiations.

MINNESOTA RULE IS EXTENDED BY SUPREME COURT

Maximum Rate Laws of Four States Are Upheld by the Decision

IS DEFENSE OF "STATE RIGHTS"

Most Sweeping Ruling for State Sovereignty
Since Dred Scott
Case

GIVE STATE COMMISSIONS LIFE

Desperate Fight of Boards for Recognition Ends in Victory

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Maximum rate laws of four states, Minnesota, West Virginia, Oregon and Arkansas, were sustained today on the supreme court in a sweeping series of unanimous decisions, rendered by Justice Hughes. Excepting to a few of the roads with small mileage in Missouri alone, the court declared the laws are not confiscatory.

Defends State's Rights

The court did not decide in the Kentucky rate case. All its opinions reaffirmed the "states' rights" principles laid down in the Minnesota cases. They constituted the most sweeping, dominating defense of the "states' rights" doctrine since the Dred Scott slavery case.

In brief the court held: Missouri's two cent and maximum freight laws valid as to all but a few small railroads.

Oregon's law a state commission and reducing passenger and freight rates valid.

Arkansas' two cent fare and reduced freight laws, constitutional.

West Virginia's two cent fare valid.

The decrees mold with mighty force both future railroad development and the rate regulation jurisdiction of the nation and states. They end in a victory a desperate fight for life of the state railroad commissions.

Kansas Rates O. K.

That the state of Kansas has the right to fix reasonable maximum rates for transportation of oil and oil products on railroads within its borders was declared today by the supreme court amplifying its ruling in the Minnesota case.

At 2:14 today the supreme court of the United States adjourned its present term. The tribunal will not meet again until next October.

lying in a straw pile. One farmer driving to the market this morning reported drastic measures being used to save them. He said that quantities of ice were placed in straw piles that the hogs might cool themselves.

BORDMAN PROPOSES

By MARY MARSHALL

(Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Although Borden Sylvester had a great deal of imagination—for an Englishman—and although he had listened to Margaret talk about college doings by the hour on board the boat that brought her back from England to her senior year at Dover college and brought him to a two weeks' visit to the States, and although his extensive roamings had taught him preparedness for anything, still his first half-hour of Dover college fairly took his breath away. He arrived, after college had been in session for ten days, at about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and having secured a room at the neat little Dover hotel, he started out in the direction of the campus in search of Margaret with impatience of spirit and joy of heart.

Two smiling, batless young women, clad in outing suits, approached him perfectly unabashed:

"We are official guides," they seemed to say in chorus. "We will show you the campus, the lake, the ramble, the college buildings, the chapel, and indicate all the points of interest—all for a dollar. We are raising the money for the college athletic association."

Borden fumbled in his pocket for a dollar and consented to be guided.

"I want most of all to be shown to the—dormitory," he said with an accent that seemed to delight his guides. He could feel that they were casting approving glances over his head. "It is jolly good of you and I am awfully obliged, but if you will pilot me to the dormitory, that is about all I will have time for."

The guides smiled and led him through the campus entrance, walking faster and faster as they proceeded, one taking up the thread of the conversation where the other left off. Borden laughed and talked pleasantly with them and when they passed a group of twenty girls, clad in sweaters and bloomers—"A group of undergraduates," as the guides explained, "returning from basketball practice"—his natural instinct, in view of the unusual costumes worn by the party, was to turn his gaze from them.

He felt one looking at him. He looked back just as the group had passed and there he saw in the person of one of the be-bloomered young athletes the object of his heart's desire, Margaret. For a moment he paused. Perhaps he had better leave his guides and follow her, and then, as he thought of it, it seemed better to wait till she had time to dress in more conventional garb before he joined her.

"I say," he said, finally, "don't you think you have given me a dollar's worth? I have had a ripping time, really, but I want to go and call on a friend at the dormitory." When Borden finally made his way to the dormitory and had the front door opened by a diminutive buttoned page he found himself in the midst of a bevy of talking, laughing young women who looked up in surprise as he passed them into a small reception room whither the page directed him. Soon Margaret came down stairs and greeted Borden with indifference, unlike the sympathetic expression he had taken away as a memory of her but ten days ago.

"I didn't know you had any other friends at Dover," she said, with a rising inflection, intended to indicate indifference, and it took a good ten minutes of Borden's persuasion to explain that he had been "guided" quite against his will, and that later, when Margaret passed him on the campus, the reason he didn't desert them to follow her was because he felt that perhaps, dressed as she was she wouldn't have cared to stop to talk to him.

"A wfully fetching costume, though," he added, hastily, feeling that perhaps she would think he disapproved.

Then Margaret took another good ten minutes explaining the nature of basketball—minutes that Borden was aching to use for the purpose for which he had come to Dover. He had to return early the next morning to New York in order to catch his steamer back to England, and it was part of his plans to take back with him, if he could, the knowledge that Margaret would be his wife.

However, he listened to Margaret's explanation. She paused a minute for breath and Borden drew his chair nearer to her.

"Be careful," she warned, "this is not the steamer deck, you know; a half dozen girls in the hall are watching us."

"Can't we close the doors? I want to talk to you seriously."

"They don't shut," said Margaret. "They aren't doors—they are just arches."

"Oh," sighed Borden, "well, I can talk to you."

Just then an excited young woman ran into the room. "Excuse me, Margaret, for butting in, but we have been waiting for you for fifteen minutes. There is a committee meeting and we need you for the quorum," and with that Margaret with a word of apology left Borden with the words of his anticipated proposal on his tongue's end.

Borden waited half an hour and then Margaret returned to say that it was dinner hour and that as it was against the rules of the dormitory to be late to dinner she would have to leave him. He suggested that she come with him to his hotel for dinner, but when Margaret explained that this could be done only with the incursion of a woman instructor as chaperon Borden did not urge her.

After dinner he reached Margaret on the telephone. "When may I see you?" he asked. "I have to leave here tomorrow morning at 6 and it may be months before I can make another trip to the States."

Margaret considered. "I have a play rehearsal for the 'senior frolic' tonight at 7:30; that will last till 9. The lights are out in the reception hall at 9:30. I can see you for a half hour then."

Borden arrived at five minutes before the appointed hour, and Margaret arrived ten minutes late, hot and excited from her rehearsal. First of all she had to explain what a senior frolic was, and then she had to tell Borden the details of the play. She had just finished the last detail of the last act, and Borden had mustered up courage to interrupt her before she began on any other explanations.

"You know how fond I am of you," he began. "I have told you."

Just then there was an ear-splitting sound of a gong throughout the building. Margaret ran from the room, with Borden following after. Then as the bell sounded again he heard from all directions scurrying feet and muffled sounds of feminine voices, and he lost Margaret in the confusion. Then came the deluge—girls in bath robes, girls with flowing locks, hair brushes in hand—collarless, shoeless, and still more girls pouring in hurried ranks from every side. Borden could neither smell nor see the smoke, but he had for a moment a clear vision of what his duty was. He would step forward and with military dignity lead the scattered throng of girls to safety. Then, at the risk of his own life, if need be he would return to the flaming building—it would be in flames by that time, he thought—and search the building to see that no one had been left.

Even while Borden was making these plans they had marched past him in orderly rank. "Where is the fire?" he asked. "Did it start upstairs?"

"This is the weekly fire drill," answered the girl sweetly.

Borden withdrew to the reception room to think it over. He heard the girls returning to the building, and then heard them file upstairs. The clock struck 9:30 and the lights, all but for a low light in the hall, went suddenly out. Then in a minute a figure crept into the reception room in the darkness—shoeless so as not to be heard. It was Margaret and she crept up to his side with all the old confidence she had shown on the steamer.

"That fire drill interrupted us," she said. "We never know when it is going off. So I thought I would come back even if it is breaking rules. I will tell you all about the fire drills, if you can wait—"

"Don't you dare start it again," Borden said frantically. "I have been trying for thirty hours to ask you to marry me. I have to leave here tomorrow early and I can't tell

UNFILLABLE HOLE FOUND IN MARSH

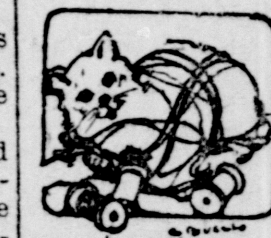

MARINETTE, Wis., June 16. — The Annapue and Western railroad has an apparently unfillable hole in a cranberry marsh near Sturgeon Bay. For years the road has been dumping trainloads of gravel and all the old ties and timbers of the road in the bog in an effort to get a solid foundation, but to no avail. Three weeks ago the track sank out of sight and a work train was sent to the spot with orders to continue the filling until a solid bottom had been established. When the work was completed heavy trains were operated across the marsh with no perceptible sag until Sunday, when the road officials awoke to find the track nineteen feet under the marsh.

After the trial a wise person learns not to talk back to the judge.

The stewards have been told to turn away all persons previously ruled off the turf.

Fluffy Graycat
Story — And Little Emily's Spools.

"CUDDLE down, cuddle down," said daddy as Jack and Evelyn climbed into his arms. "If you want a story I will tell you about Fluffy Graycat."

"To begin with, Fluffy Graycat was in disgrace. He had been naughty. His little mistress was learning to sew. She had a nice new work-box in which were spools and balls of cotton.

"Though Fluffy had begged and begged, little Emily would never allow Fluffy Graycat to play with these.

"You must be a good little kitten and play with your ball," Emily would say when Fluffy would jump up and beg for a spool to play with. "Fluffy thought this was very selfish of Emily. 'Just as if I'd hurt her old spools!' he grumbled to himself.

"Spools are not meant for kittens to play with," Fluffy's mother told him. "If you want sport come to the barn with me and watch a mouse hole."

"But Fluffy did not wish to go out into the barn. He stayed right there on the rug, sulkingly watching Emily as she threaded her needle and began to sew.

"Emily, come here a minute!" the little girl's mother called from upstairs, and Emily ran off in answer to the call.

"Fluffy raised his head. This was the chance he had been looking for. Jumping up quickly, in a minute he had half a dozen spools on the floor.

"First he unrolled the white thread; then he tried the black; then he opened up another spool and with his little paws twisted this thread with the others until he had made a fine tangle.

"He slapped the spools about over the floor and did not at first mind, though the threads wrapped around his paws and legs. In a little bit they were so twisted about his body that he could not walk, and then he rolled over and tried to wriggle out of the tangle. But the more he wriggled, of course the more he was a prisoner.

"No one came for quite a long time. Then Emily tripped downstairs. When she saw what had happened she was at first very much provoked.

"You naughty Fluffy Graycat!" she said. "It serves you right for meddling with my things."

"But Fluffy put on a very miserable face and meowed so pitifully that tender-hearted little Emily knelt down and with her little scissors cut the threads that bound him.

"Up jumped Fluffy, not minding in the least the little slap which his mistress gave him as a punishment for meddling with her box. He went right off to the barn, where old Mrs. Graycat was watching a mouse hole, and when he told her what had happened you may be sure she gave her son a scolding."

CHEAP BEEF
FROM AUSTRALIA

Australian beef is being sold in San Francisco 25 per cent cheaper than domestic beef. It seems strange that charges for a haul of several thousand miles can be paid and the product put on the market for 75 per cent of what is charged for meat from cattle raised and slaughtered in our own country.

The cause does not lie altogether with the beef trust and its artificially stimulated prices. That of course, is a contributing cause, the importance of which should not be underestimated. But another cause is the fact that cattle raised for slaughtering purposes in the United States have not increased in anything like the same degree as has population. The reason for this is the disappearance of the great grazing lands of the west. The westward advance of agriculture has put the big ranches of ten or more years ago out of existence. The land has grown too valuable to be devoted exclusively to the cowboy and his picturesque occupation. The sheep started the raid on the cattle lands.
Then came the grain farmer operating over several hundreds of acres.
Now the general purpose farmer has come into possession of much of the west, and in many parts the farms of one hundred and sixty acres or more are being split up into smaller parcels for truck gardening and orchards.

Australia and the Argentine republic have not reached this stage.
Vast grazing lands still exist in both these countries. Manufacturing has not yet reached the proportions it has attained in this country. The population is still concentrated about the seaboard instead of being scattered over the whole continent. In the interior of the great island empire of Australia there are vast tracts that so far have not been reached by exploring and hunting parties. In the Argentine the cowpuncher still holds sway over areas as large as many European principalities.

The process of transition, however, already is under way. For years sheep have pressed the cattle hard in Australia. In the Argentine there are wheat fields stretching as far as the eye can see. Some day both these countries will raise cattle for dairying and not for slaughtering purposes. When that day comes it will not be possible for them to pay the carriage costs over thousands of miles and still undersell American meat. In the meantime we might as well take advantage of the lower prices whenever we can.

TOM MORRIS AND THE UNITED STATES SENATE

It was not a trivial problem which Lieut. Gov. Tom Morris solved when he decided to offer himself as a candidate for the United States senate.
This nation of ninety millions of people is represented by a total of but ninety-six senators. These senators constitute the senior, the more august branch of the body that legislates for the ninety millions. The senate, then, is entrusted with grave responsibilities, and to be a senator is not merely a great honor—it is a great obligation as well.

Senator Morris, wisely, broadly and modestly, did not decide upon his important step unadvised, nor did he take it without the earnest encouragement of many men who are recognized as qualified by experience and achievement to speak upon so weighty a subject, and who in the aggregate are representative of the trend of public opinion that of late years has found expression through the enactments of the Wisconsin legislature.

These men were actuated by two motives, two beliefs. They believe that Mr. Morris is amply qualified by endowment, by training and experience to hold the high office of United States senator; they believe that his record at Madison justifies the conviction that his course in the senate will be progressive, that he will face the future and help build the structure of advancing civilization. No doubt, too, they recognized the fact that, to that extent to which service can earn the right to further service, Mr. Morris has earned that right to serve.

We shall not, at this time, produce the details of the work done by Mr. Morris in behalf of the great movement which, originated in Wisconsin by Senator La Follette, has begun and will complete the restoration to the people of truly representative government. Suffice it to say that always he has been in the van, always he has worn the sword but never the shield, never when assigned a task has he returned to duty the message, "I regret to report, etc." It has been his fortune to take a conspicuous part in the work which the forward-facing men of Wisconsin, in all parties and all creeds, have so splendidly accomplished, and his reward is a high place in the confidence and affections of this trail-blazing commonwealth. He is widely, almost universally known in the state, where not personally, at least by good reputation. He is in the debt of no men or interests; no class fears that he will be unjust or doubts that he will dare to be just. He is clean, broad, democratic. We believe the state of Wisconsin has seldom been given the opportunity to secure representation so satisfactory in the United States senate.

A Disheartening Sight Mayor Gaynor, at a luncheon in New York, talked about laws:
"It is difficult to execute," he said,
"laws that the majority of the people don't want and don't believe in."
The mayor smiled and added:
"Why a friend of mine, just back from a prohibition state, said to me the other day:
"In every large city in the state I saw well-dressed citizens drinking with relish from bottles labeled Rat Poison, Liniment and even Furniture Polish."

He Was Considerate
A husband was being arraigned in court in a suit brought by his wife for cruelty.

"I understand, sir," said the judge, addressing the husband, "that one of the indignities you have showered upon your wife is that you have not spoken to her for three years. It that so?"

"It is, your honor," quickly answered the husband.

"Well, sir," thundered the judge,
"why didn't you speak to her, may I ask?"

"Simply," replied the husband, "because I didn't want to interrupt

Easily Explained
During a lull in the conversation the young man who was calling made the announcement that he had failed to keep abreast of the scientific advance of the age.

"For instance," he said, "I don't know at all how the incandescent electric light which is now so much used, is produced."
"Oh, it is very simple," said the up to date girl. "You just turn a button and the light appears."

A Spirited Reply
Miss Ethel Barrymore, taking tea at the Country club in New York, talked about the perils of the stage.

"No matter how beautiful a girl may be," said Miss Barrymore, "the perils of the stage need not alarm her.

Pimples Should

May be Means of Absorbing Disease Germs in Most Unexpected Manner.

Make Your Blood Pure and Immune With S. S. S.

The world renowned laboratory of the Swift Specific Company has collected a vast amount of information regarding the spread of blood diseases.
In thousands of instances the most virulent types have been the result of coming in contact with disease germs in public places, and the apparently insignificant pimple has been the cause.
It spreads with astonishing rapidity, often infecting the entire system in a few days.

It is fortunate, however, that there is a remedy to cope quickly and thoroughly with such a condition, and thanks to the energy of its producers the famous S. S. S. may now be had at almost any drug store in the civilized world.

This preparation stands alone as a blood purifier. It is somewhat revolutionary in its composition, since it accomplishes what was ever claimed for mercury, iodides, arsenic, and other destructive mineral drugs, and yet it is absolutely a purely vegetable product. It contains one ingredient which permeates the active purpose of stimulating each tiny cellular part of the tissues to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. There are more cases of articular rheumatism, locomotor ataxia, paralysis, neuritis, and similar diseases resultant from the use of minerals than most people are aware of. These facts are brought out in a highly interesting book compiled by the medical department of The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is mailed free, together with a special letter of advice, to all who are struggling with a blood disease.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day of your druggist. It will surprise you

Let her only keep her head, and she will be all right.

"She must keep her head—she must repudiate advances with good humor—and she'll get on splendidly. Let her emulate the pretty housemaid of New Rochelle."

"There was a sign on a house in New Rochelle—This handsome residence, with its appurtenances, to be let, furnished, for the summer." and one day a motor stopped, and a good looking man rang the bell and inquired about the sign.

"What," he asked, "do the appurtences mean?"

"Oh," said the pretty housemaid,
"they are the outbuildings, the garage, the tennis courts and so forth."

pretty maid standing before him with her hands in the pockets of her dainty apron."

"And are you an appurtenance?" he said. "Are you to be let with the house?"

"She smiled and shook her head."

"No," she said; "I'm to be let alone."

"Quebec is taking its place as a summer resort for American tourists," Charles M. Schwab said the other day.

"Some of our tourists show in Quebec remarkable ignorance of history, but, then, the natives in a tourist's presence show a remarkable ignorance of history, too."

"I overheard one June morning a dialogue between a native and a tourist before the Wolfe monument."

"What's this here?" the tourist said.

"That," said the native, "is where a great hero fell."

"Fell, eh?" said the tourist. "Did it hurt him?"

"Hurt him?" said the native, with a disgusted look. "Why, it killed him."

That dinner was going like an airship on a high wind, when something happened to tangle its tail feathers and I can hardly write it for trembling yet. It was a simple little blue telegram, but it might have been nitro-glycerine on a tear for the way it acted. It was for me, but the ginger barber handed it to Tom and he opened it and, looking at me over his full—after many times emptied—glass, he solemnly read it out loud. It said:

"Landed this noon. Have I your permission to come to Hillsboro immediately? Answer, Alfred."

It was dreadful! Nobody said a word and Tom laid the telegram right down in his plate, where it immediately began to soak up the dressing of his salad. He was so white and shaky that Pet looked at him in amazement, and then I am sure she had the good sense to find his hand under the cloth and hold it, for his shoulders hovered against hers and the color came back to his face as he smiled down at her.
I don't believe I'll ever get the courage to look at Tom again until he marries Pet, which he'll do now, I feel sure.

And as for the judge and Ruth Chester, I was glad they were sitting beside each other, for I could avoid that side of the table with my eyes until I had steadied myself a few seconds at least. The surprise made the others I had been dining seem statues from the stone age, and only Mr. Graves' fork failed to bang fire. His appetite is as strong as his nerves and Della Hawes looked at his composure with the relief plain in her eyes. Henrietta's smile in the judge's direction was doubtful. But they were not all my lovers and why that awful silence?

I couldn't say a word, and I am sure I don't know what I would have done if it hadn't been for the doctor. He leaned forward and his deep eyes came out in their wonderful way and seemed to collect every pair of eyes at the table, even the most astounded, as he raised his glass. We all held our breaths and waited for him to speak.

"No wonder we are all stricken dumb at Mrs. Carter's telegram," he said in his deep voice that commands everybody and everything.
"The whole town will be paralyzed at the news that its most distinguished citizen is only going to give them two days to get ready to receive him. I can see the panic the brass band will have now getting the brass shined up, and I want to be the one to tell Mayor Pollard myself, so as to suggest to him to have at least a two-hour speech of welcome to hand out at the train."

purtences mean?"

"Oh," said the pretty housemaid,

A trifling transaction?

No! A remarkable one—for you most nutritious food made from flour—as clean and crisp and delicious as it was when it came and me alone—also in the moonlight, which I wished in my heart somebody would put out.

They say among the lawyers that it is a good thing that Benton Wade is on the bench, for it is no use to try a case against him when he has the handling of a jury. He just looks them in the face and tells them how to vote. Tonight he looked me in the face and told me how to marry, and I'm not sure yet that I won't do as he says. Of course I'm in love with Alfred, but if he wants me he had better get me away quick before the judge makes all his arrangements. A woman loves to be courted with poems and flowers and deference, but she's mighty apt to marry the man who says, "Don't argue, but put on your bonnet and come with me." The fact that it was too late to get into the clerk's office saved me tonight, but in two days—

Oh, I'm crying, crying in my heart, which is worse than in my eyes, as I sit and look across my garden, where the cold moon is hanging low over the tall trees behind the doctor's house and his light in his room is burning warm and bright. They are right; he does not care if I am going away for ever with Alfred. His quick toast to him and the lovely warm look he poured over me poor frightened me at his side, as he drank his champagne, told me that once and for all, still we have been so close together over his baby and I have grown so dependent on him for so many things that it cuts into me like a hot knife that he shouldn't care if he lost me—even for a neighbor. I shouldn't mind not having any husband if I could always live close to him and Billy like this, and if I married Judge Wade I could at least have him for a family physician. No—I don't like that! Of course I'm going with Alfred now that an accident has made me announce the fact to the whole town before he even knows it himself, but wherever I go that light in the room with that lonely man is going to burn in my heart. Hope it will throw a glow over Alfred!

BLAMES OPERATORS FOR MINE TROUBLE

Former Governor Says Refusal to Arbitrate Caused War in Cabin Creek District

(By John Edwin Nevin, Staff Correspondent of the United Press.)

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 16.—The refusal of the West Virginia coal operators to consent to any method of arbitration to settle the Paint and Cabin Creek strikes was responsible for the murders and rioting which had lasted more than a year, according to former Governor Glascock.

Recalled for cross-examination before the senate probers today by Attorney Knight, Glascock emphatically insisted that if the operators had been willing to arbitrate in any way, the strike could have been settled in its infancy. When the operators pleaded an excuse for refusing to arbitrate that it would virtually recognize the union, Glascock said the miners voluntarily waived this point, but still the operators refused to arbitrate.

"They told me they would settle this thing their own way," Glascock said. The former governor and a half dozen other witnesses admitted that the importation of the mine guards, who paraded the district with rifles over their shoulders and heavy caliber pistols in their belts, carrying things with a high hand, started the rioting. Until they came in, even though the strike was on, Glascock said, there was no trouble.

Another of the star witnesses of the day, Ed Bragg, formerly deputy sheriff in the district, said that for nine years he alone had been able to preserve order, but that when the guards arrived, "real trouble came."

Much interest and amusement has been created in the past few days over a wager made between the advance man of the Wortham and Allen Shows and Miss Chubbey Whitney of the International Swimming and Diving Girls, which is one of the big feature attractions.

The wager was made in Davenport last week and was the result of some good natured banter on the part of the advance man over Miss Whitney's endurance in a long distance swim.

He wagered a silk swimming suit against a Panama hat that she could not swim to a certain point in the Mississippi and return without resting and she accepted. Owing to the inclement weather it was postponed until more favorable conditions were present and as this is the next town located on the big river it was decided to make La Crosse the place of the test.

The swim will be from bridge to and back again without resting, this course being picked out by Charlie Dittman on Thursday. He said it seemed unfair to make it so hard but the advance man told him that it was to be a losing bet unless he made it a very difficult swim as Miss Whitney has swam the English channel from Dover to Calais within one hour of the time made by the male champion holding the record. At any rate the swim is scheduled for some morning during carnival week and the date will be picked by the fair swimmer. The day of the trial will be announced later in order that everyone may see the novel affair.

FIVE IN LAUNCH ARE NEAR DEATH

Big Wave Splits Boat and Overturns Party in the River at Prairie du Chien

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis., June 16.—Albert Butler, wife and baby and Patrick Calahan and wife, all of Waukon Junction, nearly lost their lives Saturday afternoon when their gasoline launch overturned in a heavy wind storm near the pontoon bridge over the Mississippi river at Prairie du Chien. Had it not been for the heroic work of Godfrey Car-dine, bridge tender, who, at the risk of his own life, came to their aid in a light skiff, the entire party would have probably drowned.

The launch with the party of pleasure seekers was nearing the bridge when an enormous wave split it from stem to stern. The boat filled with water instantly and capsized.

One of the women showed great presence of mind by emptying the gasoline out of a five gallon can and screwing the stopper back on again, making an improvised life preserver for herself. The men and the other woman and her child clung to the overturned boat until rescued by Car-dine. Calahan lost his pocketbook containing $650.

Witness Testifies He Got Big Fee for Having

Kansas

CHICAGO, June 16.—Charles Blood Smith, Topeka, Kas., attorney, admitted before Special Examiner introduced in the Kansas legislature in 1902.

Smith denied, however, that he had done any lobbying, or used any improper methods in securing the defeat of the two bills. He said that he made one speech against the bills.
The other activities that earned him the $8,500 fee, he said he could not remember.

GETS TWO MONTHS FOR STABBING MAN

Ole Moe Goes to County Jail for Cutting His Son-in-law, Herman Helgersson

Pleading that he was intoxicated and did not realize what he was doing, Ole Moe, a laborer who came here about a month ago from Retreat, Wis., admitted stabbing Herman Helgersson, his son-in-law Saturday night in a saloon at 827 South Eleventh street, and was sentenced to sixty days in the county jail by Judge John Brindley in county court today.

According to the story told by Helgersson, who appeared in court against his father-in-law, he was waiting on the trade in the saloon where he is employed as bar tender, when Moe suddenly leaped at him with a knife and stabbed him in the chin. He declared that Moe was drunk when he came into the saloon and that he made the attack without any warning. Both Moe and Helgersson declared that they had had no previous trouble and both were at a loss to explain the cause of the attack.

The cut in Helgersson's chin is a gash about three inches long and it had struck two inches lower. It would have cut his jugular vein and might have killed him. Helgersson testified that Moe had a bad record in Retreat where he came from, at one time stabbing a man so that he nearly died.

Moe was overpowered by bystanders in the saloon as soon as he attacked the bartender Saturday night. He was taken to central police station and held for trial today. His only defense in court today was that he had been drinking and did not know what he was doing. The court did not give him the option of a fine but sentenced him to jail for two months.

MUST PAY TAXES ON SLOT MACHINES

Owners of slot machines and other automatic gambling machines and trade promoting devices, in hotels, saloons, cigar and confectionery stores, who have been notified by the police that they must remove the machines from the premises, have been assessed for the machines, and must pay the amount of this tax.

Assessor Edward Sheridan made the statement that almost every store of the aforementioned kind had from one to three of the gambling devices, and had been assessed from $25 to $40.

Mr. Sheridan said that he would advise machine operators to get their tax money before allowing the owners of the machines to take them from their premises. The machines have been entered on the assessor's reports filed with the tax commissioner and every dealer will be taxed for the machines that he has been operating.

REBEL MOROS ARE FINALLY BEATEN

General Pershing Drives Sultan of Jolo's Troops from Mount Bagsag

CAMPAIGN COSTS 13 DEAD

Six Killed on U. S. Side in Desperate Night Battle which Settles the Trouble

MANILA, June 16.—Wireless reports from Jolo today told of the final rout of the rebellious Moros on Mount Bagsag, with six Americans killed and seven wounded.

The last entrenchment, according to the brief reports, was captured during the night after desperate fighting. The battle began just before dark, when the troops under Brigadier General Pershing advanced on the Moros in greater numbers than in any of last week's engagements.

The Americans under Brigadier General Pershing last Wednesday moved against the rebellious Moros entrenched at Bagsag, under the fanatical sultan of Jolo.

In the first engagement, the Americans lost six killed and twelve wounded. The total casualties of the campaign were 13 dead and 20 wounded, according to the wireless reports received here.

The sultan of Jolo was the last of the native rulers to defy the government. He told his people that he not only ruled the entire Philippines but held sway over the United States as well.

ROSENSTEIN WINS MAJESTIC LAWSUIT

By a decision handed down by Circuit Judge E. C. Higbee today, M. Rosenstein won his suit against Mr. Frank L. Koppelberger, Dora Koppelberger and the New Majestic Theater company. Mr. Rosenstein, as president and stockholder in the theater company, sued the other two members of the company to compel the satisfaction of a lien for about $3,000 held on the stock owned by Mr. Koppelberger and to compel Mr. Koppelberger to turn over to the company a lease on the Majestic building which he had obtained from the owners in his own name for five years.

The court decided that Mr. Rosenstein's lien should be satisfied, and that Mr. Koppelberger's note should be taken up by the sale of Koppelberger's stock in the theater company. The decision also compels Mr. Koppelberger to turn over his lease on the theater building to the company.

SPEEDERS ARE FINED $17.50 EACH

Four motorcycle riders paid fines of $17.50 each in municipal court today upon pleading guilty before Judge Edward Cronon of speeding in the south part of the city yesterday afternoon. Those fined were James Allen, Art McKinzie, Russell Voves and Otto Reick. They were captured by Chief of Police John Webber who chased the speeders in the police car. Chief Webber also arrested Harry Palmer for speeding on Eighth street in his automobile. Palmer will be arraigned before Judge Cronon today.

THOMPSON IS "SLOUGHED."

Former District Attorney James Thompson will be arraigned in municipal court today on a charge of exceeding the speed limit with his automobile yesterday. Mr. Thompson was arrested by Chief of Police John Webber on State street yesterday after a chase in the police car.

Effort Wasted.

"What makes me really mad," said the woman, "is to spend minutes, maybe hours, trying to get hold of a white hair that shows up on my head like a dazzling light, yet which is tantalizingly elusive when I try to catch it, and then when I do finally separate it from the brown hair and give it a vigorous pull, to find that I have snatched out a good brown hair and left the white one still shining!"

Strength of a Nation.

The foundations of a strong and virile race are laid in the rural districts, and, if agriculture be allowed to decay, no development of industries in the heart of the town will atone for the loss to the nation of that greatest of all industries which makes wealth while it creates manhood.—Percy Alden.

Moral Indifference.

If ignorance and passion are the foes of popular morality, it must be confessed that moral indifference is the malady of the cultivated classes. The modern separation of enlightenment and virtue, of thought and conscience, of the intellectual aristocracy from the honest and vulgar crowd, is the greatest danger that can threaten liberty.—Henri Frederic Amiel.

Visible Evidence.

One day a teacher was having a first-grade class in physiology. She asked them if they knew that there was a burning fire in the body all of the time. One little girl spoke up and said: "Yes'm, when it is a cold day I can see the smoke."—National Monthly

WOULD LEGISLATE AGAINST SPLITTING

American Medical Association Committee Recommends Drastic Action

REPORT A BIG INVESTIGATION

Practice of Fee-dividing Is Most Prevalent in the Middle Western States

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 16.—"Any member of the American Medical society found guilty of secret fee splitting or of giving or receiving commissions shall cease to be a member of the American Medical association."

This was the resolution recommended by the judicial council today for adoption by the house of delegates of the American Medical association. The resolution was signed by Drs. Alexander Lambert, New York; A. B. Cooke, Nashville, Tenn.; J. E. Moore, Minneapolis; Hubert Work, Pueblo, Col.; George W. Guthrie, Wilkesbarre.

Accompanying the resolution was the report of an exhaustive investigation into the practice of "splitting" which it was stated eventually results in unnecessary surgery. The council sent letters to six thousand prominent members of the association asking them to report on the prevalence of fee splitting in their sections. Over 3,000 answers were received and there was abundant evidence that fee splitting and the giving and receiving of commissions on patients sent to hospitals and sanitariums was frequent, although it varied in certain sections.

The report says "Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, Illinois, Kansas, Nebraska, North and South Dakota and Wisconsin show the greatest prevalence of this practice and the profession is divided between a vigorous opposition to the practice and an equally cynical low standpoint justifying it."

DULUTH, Minn., June 16.—The steamer Jesse Spalding, which was seriously damaged in a collision with the William P. Snyder, Jr., off Keweenaw Point early Sunday, is safe, according to wireless reports here and arrived at Sault Ste Marie today. She was reported sunk.

Captain Franks of the steamer Charles Hebard, arriving here this morning, reported sighting the Spalding off Manitou island at 10:30 Sunday morning. The Spalding had a patch over her bow and was proceeding smoothly.

TO DISCONTINUE POST OFFICE AT HATFIELD

The post office which was established at Hatfield about a year ago at the request of Congressman John J. Esch for the accommodation of the three hundred men working on the big dam for the La Crosse Water Power company, will be discontinued June 30, according to an announcement received by Congressman Esch from the post office department today. The work on the dam has been completed and the necessity for the post office at Hatfield no longer exists. The territory now served by the Hatfield office will be covered by a rural free delivery route from Merrill.

ACCUSE FATHER OF CRUELTY TO SON

Warrant Follows Complaint of Poor Commissioner Sol Burdick Against Friesmuth

Charging that he "hitched" his twelve year old son to a small corn or garden cultivator in the same manner as a farmer usually works a horse and made him pull the machine through his garden for several weeks, County Poor Commissioner Sol Burdick today swore out a warrant and complaint against John Friesmuth alleging cruel treatment of the son, Frank Friesmuth.

Friesmuth is a gardener living on the Salem road near the city limits and neighboring the north side convent.

According to the complaint of neighbors registered with Mr. Burdick today, the boy has been patiently toiling for several weeks pulling the cultivator which his father guided through the garden. They say he is said to have pulled the machine by means of ropes or a harness.

At first witnesses took no more than passing notice of the strange contrivance in the Friesmuth field believing that the boy was doing his "horse work" in play but as several weeks passed by the neighbors became indignant and the complaint today came as the result. Friesmuth will be arraigned in county court probably tomorrow.

According to friends of Friesmuth, the cultivator which the boy had been pulling, is a light machine of the kind usually pushed by the operator in weeding a garden and that it could be moved with less effort than an ordinary lawn mower.

TO THE PARENTS OF LA CROSSE

About July 1 the school authorities will begin the taking of the school census. Its purpose is to ascertain the number of children between the ages of four and twenty in the city. DON'T HESITATE TO TELL THE ENUMERATOR FRANKLY ALL ABOUT YOUR CHILDREN.

It is a simple record for the purpose of enumeration; it isn't going to cost you a cent. In fact, you'll never hear from it again.

Not only does it cost you nothing, but if you are a taxpayer IT WILL BE MONEY IN YOUR POCKET TO GIVE THE INFORMATION, BECAUSE

The state of Wisconsin, in apportioning state tax, gives the city of La Crosse $2.60 for every child named in this school census. WHETHER THE CHILD GOES TO SCHOOL OR NOT.

The county of La Crosse gives the city of La Crosse $2.60 for every child in this census.

Thus, it will be seen, for every child of school age you give the school census taker you are reducing the total taxes that La Crosse people must pay to the extent of $5.20.

So please tell the census taker whatever he wants to know.

AGED WORKER IS OVERCOME BY HEAT

John Zahn, 65 years of age, an employee of the La Crosse Cracker and Candy company, was stricken with the heat this morning while working in the factory.

Zahn was an employee in the canning and box department of the factory. He had been out walking in the sun a short time previous. He was apparently well, and not suffering as the room in which he was working was as cool as possible under the conditions.

Several of his fellow workmen saw him reel and fall. When they bent over to pick him up he was in a semi-conscious condition. He was taken to his home, 1728 Mormon Coulee road, where medical aid was summoned. He will recover.

CHRIST FLUGSTAD DIES AT HOSPITAL

Christ Flugstad, 52 years of age, a farmer living near Hixton, Wis., died at noon today at a local hospital, after an illness of two weeks. Death resulted from a complication of diseases. Flugstad was born in Norway. The body will be sent to Hixton tomorrow morning for the funeral services and burial.

REAL ESTATE REPORT

The report of the register of deeds for the week just ended shows increased activity in real estate in La Crosse county. The report follows: Seventeen city deeds for $10,700, of which eleven were for $1,700; 7 city mortgages for $11,400; 9 county deeds for a total of $29,077.50, of which one was for $1,700; 7 county mortgages for a total of $21,900; 8 mortgages satisfied for total of $4,188; 4 mortgages assigned for total of $4,803; total, $122,088.50.

TRAVELERS FROLIC AT MYRICK PARK

Nearly Two Thousand Attend U. C. T. Picnic; Big Crowd Up from Lansing

MAYOR WELCOMES THE VISITORS

Congressman Esch Talks on Panama Canal; Britton Manages the Sports

If you wore one of those little buttons bearing the letters U. C. T. Saturday, you had one of the best times of your life, and if you didn't you had a good time anyway, mingling with the 3,000 or more visitors that made of Myrick park a veritable playground Saturday.

Twelve hundred visitors arrived on the steamer G. W. Hill from Lansing, and there wasn't a dull moment until the big boat left the foot of Main street bearing the delegates back home. Although heavy black clouds hung over the city all day, and once or twice drops of rain fell, it didn't spoil the fun. The local lodge of the United Commercial Travelers furnished free transportation on the street cars for the visitors from Lansing, and other cities. Free dancing was participated in in the big pavilion at the park, with music furnished by Kreutz's band. P. J. Yerle, local member of the Travelers, besides having a hand in the athletics and games was in evidence at the several thirst emporiums, where lemonade was dished out as fast as the energetic stand keepers could squeeze lemons and some one remarked, "It was real lemonade."

Mayor Welcomes Visitors

J. W. Calloway, acting as grand master of ceremonies, followed a selection by the band with the introduction of Mayor Orl Sorensen. Mayor Sorensen heartily welcomed the visiting delegates and their families to the city. He said that he hoped they would enjoy themselves, and take back with them memories of La Crosse.

Professor A. G. Ellis of Lansing responded to the mayor's address. He thanked the executive for his kind words. He based his address mainly on the "Traveling Man," and dwelt on his influence for good, and his power as an advertising medium. He said that the traveling salesman was the fellow that kept things alive. He said he exemplified ambition and enterprise.

The feature speech of the afternoon was given by Congressman J. J. Esch on the Panama canal. Congressman Esch took his large audience back to the time when Ferdinand de Lesseps endeavored to engineer the big feat of joining two oceans. He said that the project was not a new one. He pictured Columbus as never dreaming of an ocean lying but a few miles to the westward of where he was sailing.

He cited the scheme of King Philip of Spain, which failed when his spiritual advisors quoted the Bible as saying "What God has joined together, let no man put asunder." Congressman Esch told his audience of the work that is being done on the canal at the present time. He said that he thought water would be flowing between the two bodies of water a year had elapsed, and with the opening of the canal the United States would add to their power a hundredfold.

In charge of the picnic were the following: P. J. Yerle, Henry Worth, J. W. Calloway, B. C. Smith, Ole Elbertson, Frank Sisson, J. A. Weigel, W. A. Grimes, John Elliott, Harry Taylor, Art Swan, E. J. Steinmetz, C. F. Calloway, Joseph Hurtgen, J. F. Ronnellie, C. Stoen, J. F. Barnes, J. H. Miller, Carl Wrobel, F. A. Ruplin, Lester Emery, Carl Miller and E. C. Miller.

Britton Sport Promoter

Patrolman Michael Britton of the local police force, who was detailed to guard the welfare of the large number of people, jumped into the game with great enthusiasm, and was the real promoter of the sports.

The feature of the games was a tug of war participated in by the heavyweight "whitehops" of the U. C. T. order. The winning team was composed of Stone, Crook, Maine, Yerle, Elbertson and Weigel, Maine, as captain of the tug, and pulled the opposing team over the mark in about five seconds.

Following are the results of the games:

Clothes pin contest—Mrs. Clark, first; Mrs. Collins, second; Mrs. Calloway, third.

War Lord Completes Quarter Of A Century Of Peaceful Rule

Kaiser Wilhelm Today and in 1865

BERLIN, June 14.—Pope Plus was the first today to congratulate Kaiser Wilhelm II on his 25th anniversary as ruler of the German empire. Cardinal Kopp and Mr. Prince Crown, a prelate of the pontiff's household, brought the congratulations to the palace.

Tomorrow the kaiser will round out his twenty-fifth year as ruler of the united Germans and will have the pleasure of witnessing the fulfillment of his often-expressed wish to complete a quarter century reign without war. This is a record which no other European monarch has achieved. A country-wide jubilee has been arranged to commemorate the event.

From every quarter of the world the kaiser today was deluged with telegrams and cablegrams of congratulations, including one from President Wilson of the United States. Andrew Carnegie, the American advocate of world peace, has engaged rooms in a Berlin hotel, announcing that he would congratulate the emperor in person.

Dubbed the "war lord" of Europe for some reason, the kaiser perhaps deserves the title less than any other present day Monarch. Times without number he has withstood all efforts to drag the empire into conflict, three times within the past year.

Berlin is decorated in honor of the kaiser's jubilee as it has not been since his grandfather, Emperor Wilhelm I returned at the head of victorious troops from France in 1870.

THE CABIN CREEK STRIKE RENEWED

Not Believed New Trouble Will Come to Much Because National Body Opposes

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 16.—Reports of the renewal of the strike of the Cabin Creek miners overshadowed all testimony at today's session of the senate mine investigating committee. The strike, so far as the most creditable reports received were concerned, seems to have been abortive. Up to the present, the participants have not received the sanction of the national union. The body opposes another general strike at this time, chiefly because the majority of the men employed in the district are not organized. The details of the day's happenings on the creek are meager, but it was apparent that only a small percentage of the workers obeyed the strike order voted at mass meetings at Eskdale.

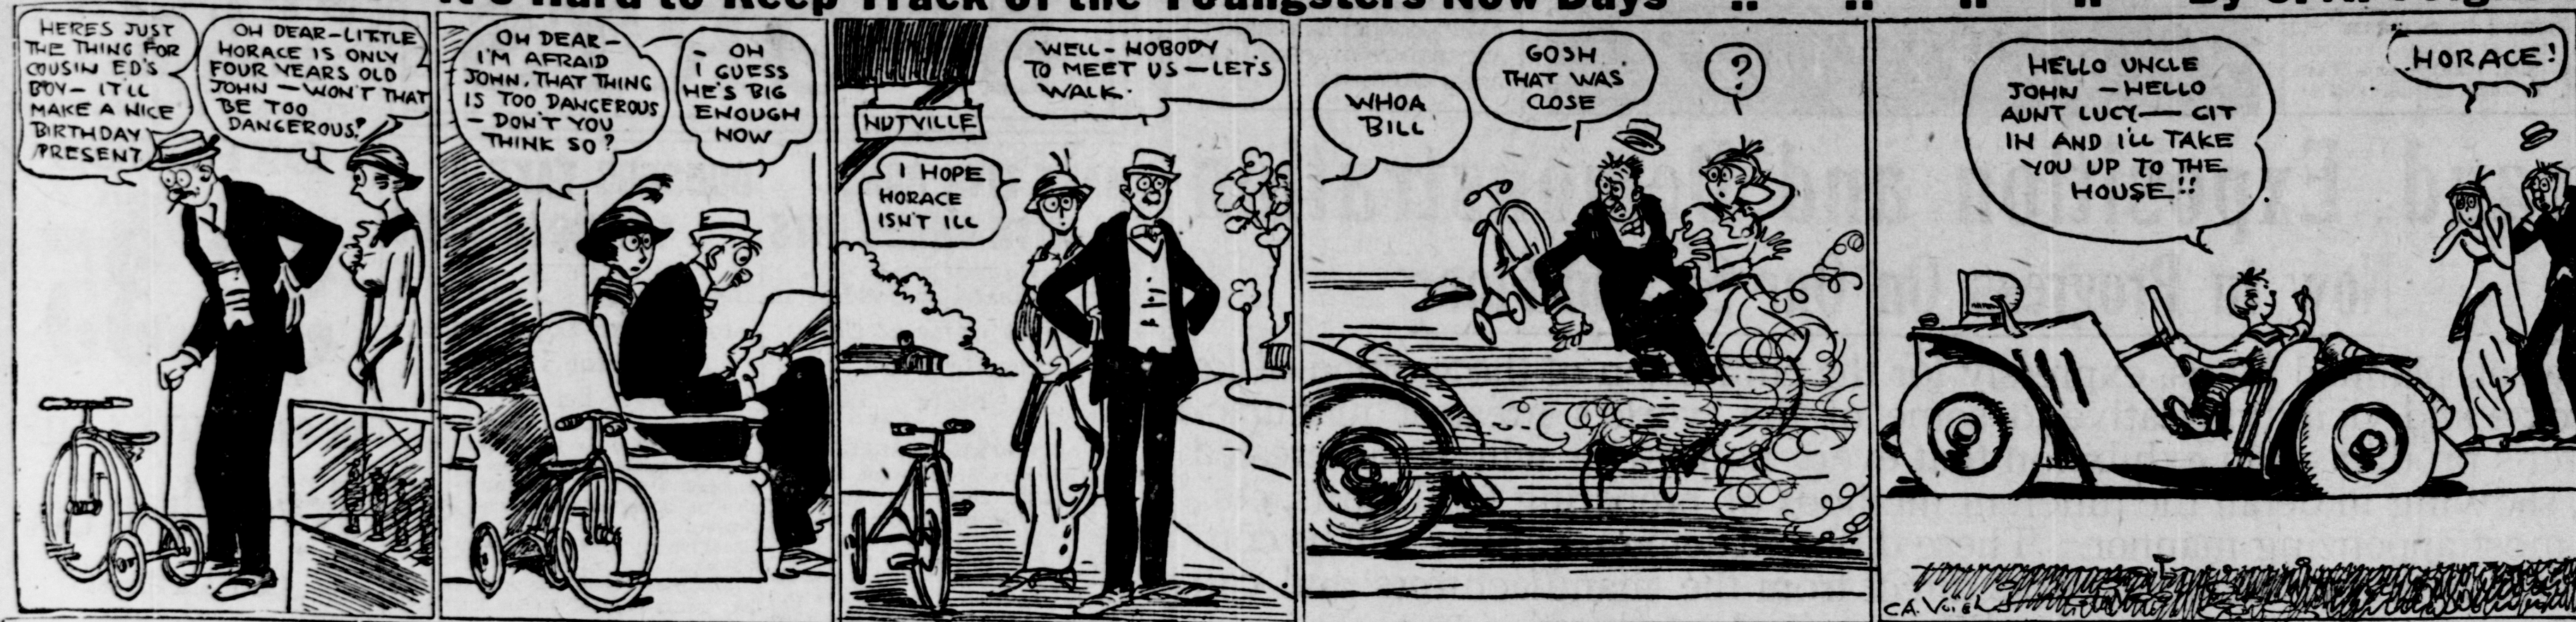

But because of the fact that there have been mutterings and unrest on Paint Creek and the New river districts, today's development was admittedly dangerous.

New York Stocks
NEW YORK, June 16.—The stock market opened active with slight price changes.

11 a. m.—The market was irregular during the first hour and showed a tendency to sag. There were spurts of bullish activity, but the advances were maintained for only a short time. The president's interview disproved a report that the cabinet was divided over currency reform, and it seemed that a threatened stringency in the money market was further off than ever. There was still a big demand for New Haven in the loan crowd.

Chicago Grain Review
CHICAGO, June 16.—The grain markets all opened excited today over the continued hot weather and absence of moisture. At the outset the trade was unable to analyze the possible damage and prices jumped within a range of from 3/4 to 1 1/2c higher for all the grains.

When the market steadied later, wheat was up only a fraction over last week's closes.

Corn jumped 1/2c at the opening and maintained the advance with an additional fractional gain at the close of the morning session. The weather in the corn belt was hot and not the best for the start of the crop.

July oats started with a rush at 1 1/2c higher than Saturday's close under excited buying and September was up 1/2c. When the market steadied both months kept their gains but made no further advances.

Provisions started easier with an easier hog market but rallied with the strength in grains.

An excited flurry that prevailed in all the grain pits just before the close today caused a sudden bulge that sent prices uniformly 1 to 1 1/2c and closed the day with new levels for the year for July and September wheat in all grains.

The buying pressure lifted July wheat to 93 1-2 and September to 93 3-8. Provisions in the afternoon held the advance they registered the morning session.

65-FOOT BOAT WINS LAKE RACE
MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., June 16.—Valmore, a 65 foot schooner, won the twenty-second annual Michigan City yacht race from Chicago Saturday afternoon. Polaris of the same class was second, six minutes behind. Valmore's time was 3:31.

Third place is in dispute between Mavouneen and Chicago, last year's unsuccessful international cup racer. Forty-three yachts sailed the race. The weather was ideal.

Watching The Scoreboard

The Cardinals turned on the Phillies unexpectedly and trounced them. Griner allowed three runs in the first inning but then settled and helped in overcoming the lead by driving out a double and a single. Cincinnati's victories come just about as often as Benton pitches. He turned one against Boston Sunday.

Four errors are usually enough to lose a game if they come at the right time. The Cubs dug up that many in their game with the Dodgers and lost. Smith joined in the slugging for Brooklyn with a triple, double and single in four times up.

The Naps journeyed back home over Sunday to get whipped by Washington. Seventeen men were called into the game for Cleveland, but they finished five runs shy.

AMERICA HOLDS CUP BY QUARTER POINT
MEADOWBROOK POLO GROUNDS, Westbury, L. I., June 16.—One scant fraction of a goal, a bare finger hold, keeps the international polo trophy in America. At a moment when the invading Englishmen had the Yankees at a disadvantage, a slip reduced the British score to a fraction below that of the American Squad, and the second game of the great match at Meadowbrook ended Saturday afternoon fanally with the count of 4½ to 4¼ for England.

Going into the seventh period, the score was 4½ to 4¼, with England leading. For a fast scrimmage, Capt. Lockett crossed in front of Larry Waterbury, the American, and the latter's horse fell, tumbling the rider to the turf. Waterbury was up in an instant, unhurt, and looking for his horse, which was galloping down the field, but meanwhile Lockett's action had cost England a goal and the trophy.

CITY LEAGUERS DEFEAT LANSING
A team of city leaguers who were not due for any scheduled game, went down to Lansing yesterday and licked the home boys 9 to 4. The game was a fast contest all the way through. Wolfe, the Lansing slapper, was chased to the sticks in the third, but Serene who succeeded him proved more effective. Kane for the La Crosse bunch, had a great day. He allowed five hits and fanned nine men. Brunek pulled the sensational play of the day when he stole from first all the way home in the fifth inning. Score: R H E La Crosse . . . 030011112—9 15 1 Lansing . . . 020000020—4 5 3

DODGERS GE HECKINGER
ST. LOUIS, June 16.—Catcher Mike Heckinger, formerly of the Cubs, was with the Dodgers when they arrived today. The deal was closed just before the Dodgers left Chicago last night. Catcher Erwin, who broke his arm in the Chicago game Saturday, was left behind in the Windy city.

BUSHERS RAFFLE PIRATES
YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, June 16.—It took the Pittsburgh Pirates ten innings to defeat the Youngstown inter-state league team here yesterday in an exhibition game. Up to the tenth the Pirates were able to secure but seven hits off Watkins.
